NFL Football Wagering - Bears Against Minnesota Vikings

The Minnesota Vikings host the Bears in Monday night NFL prospects despite the fact that the game won't be at the Metrodome. With the Metrodome in bad shape due to snow the Minnesota Vikings will play at the University of Minnesota's TCF Bank Stadium.

NFL sports betting odds makers saw the Bears take an startling step back in a blizzard this past week with their Football gambling loss to New England Patriots. NFL football gambling expectations are still high for the Bears as far as their making the playoffs but they might not be thought to be a leading NFL wagering competitor for the Super Bowl.

Minnesota is hoping that Brett Favre can go at qb on Monday night. He missed last week's match vs the Giants which ended his consecutive starts streak at a record 297 games. If Favre can't go this week then it will likely be third-stringer Joe Webb at quarterback for the Minnesota Vikings.

The Bears will battle against the Minnesota Vikings on ESPN Monday Night Football with a start time of 8:40 PM ET. The sports book will have the prospects on both the side and over/under for this National Football Conference North Division matchup so make sure and open your account to be all set for the action. The Chicago Bears won the 1st meeting between these teams on November 14 in a 27-13 home pay out as the match went under the total.

The Chicago Bears have a record of 9-4 straight up and 6-6-1 with the NFL betting probabilities as they're arriving from a 36-7 home loss to Patriots but nonetheless lead the National Football Conference North by 1 competition over Green Bay. The Chicago Bears offense hasn't truly got into gear with new coordinator Mike Martz as the defense has been the foundation of the team and ranks 3rd for points allowed.

Jay Cutler has an 88.3 three Quarterback rating with a 17/12 TD/INT proportion while Mike Forte leads the ground attack with 773 yards and a 4.2 yards per carry average. Johnny Knox has shown promise as a receiver with 17.6 yards per catch. The Chicago Bears have gone under the total 8 times this year.

Minnesota has a record of 5-8 straight up and 4-9 with football wagering prospects while falling under the total 7 times. The Minnesota Vikings are coming off a 21-3 loss to the Giants as Favre might not answer the call and had his sequential starting streak at qb end three games short of 300. Tavaris Jackson played at Quarterback and was unsuccessful vs the hard Giants defense.

The Minnesota Vikings were removed from playoff contention with the beat and confront questions of who will coach the squad for next year as well as who will be the qb.

Chicago has gotten the cash in 4 of their previous six NFL football betting competitions vs Minnesota and the series has fallen under the total in only 3 of the last 10 matchups between these two opponents. The Under is 4-1 in the Chicago Bears last 5 road games and the Under is 4-1 in the Minnesota Vikings last five games overall.
