

Published based on NFL Wagering Online – New England Patriots Preferred At Cleveland Browns

NFL Wagering Online – New England Patriots Preferred At Cleveland Browns

The New England Patriots will try and stay away from a letdown on Sunday as they visit the Browns in NFL football betting online. The Patriots have the top record in the NFL at 6-1 but the odds makers seem to be mindful of the probability of a disappointment as New England Patriots is getting fewer than a Touchdown in Football free online betting .

Pats -5.5, total 44 at the Sportsbook - The Patriots are favored in this match however the Cleveland Browns are gaining some value. Cleveland has performed hard this year and has looked excellent sometimes. One issue that is not clear about Cleveland is who will start at quarterback this week. It could possibly be Seneca Wallace or the Browns might decide to stick with rookie Colt McCoy. It's not likely the Cleveland Browns will start Jake Delhomme given that he does not look well from his ankle injury. That may be the greatest news if you're going to wager Cleveland as Delhomme is horrible. Wallace might be the best qb at the moment but Cleveland's future is with McCoy.

Pats Find Means to Win - The Patriots do not have the greatest statistics but they're finding methods to win. Not too long ago they gutted out a challenging win over Minnesota and covered the spread. Look at the numbers for New England Patriots and you will be astonished. They're 19th in the league in total yards and 28th in the NFL in yards granted and yet they're 6-1. The New England are arriving from an extremely low-scoring victory over the Jets where they placed the New York Jets down to 0 points while scoring 3 field goals themselves. It is possible that the Jets just had a slack offense that match, but it is additionally feasible that going up versus the Patriots defense will be a tough task.

It is not a mistake that the Patriots are 6-1. Coach Bill Belichick's system works. They're showing mental strength, specifically in the fourth quarter when it counts, with impressive performances vs the Baltimore Ravens, Jets, Chargers, Vikings and Dolphins. Quarterback Tom Brady has the team believing in themselves and the idea that they can win every competition if they really want to.

Good Space for Cleveland - This is a huge disappointment game for the Patriots. There is basically no getting around it. They won last week in a huge match vs Brett Favre, Randy Moss and the Vikings. Next week they have a substantial road game at Pittsburgh. This week they're at a perceived vulnerable Cleveland squad. This game screams disappointment. This could be a decreased scoring game according to Cleveland's conservative match plan and it may end up being near in Football betting.

Series History - The New England have won 5 of the last 6 games in this series and they are 4-2 vs the NFL gambling internet point spread. The teams haven't competed since 2007 when the Patriots won 34-17 at home. The last time they competed in Cleveland was in 2004 and the Patriots won effortlessly by a score of 42-15.

You can also find this article published on NFL Wagering Online – New England Patriots Preferred At Cleveland Browns, and on the tag pages disappointment, football, jake delhomme, new england patriots, new york jets, nfl.